Peninental Ordinance (1070)

'Anyone who knows that he killed a man in the great battle must do penance for one year for each man that he killed.'

'Anyone who wounded a man, and does not know whether he killed him or not, must do penance for forty days for each man thus struck (if he can remember the number), either continuously or at intervals.'

'Anyone who does not know the number of those he wounded or killed must, at the discretion of his bishop, do penance for one day in each week for the remainder of his life; or, if he can, let him redeem his sins by a perpetual alms, either by building or endowing a church.'

Penance: an act of satisfaction, a sort of spiritual healing (e.g. prayer, fasting, almsgiving, pilgrimage).

Spiritual Crisis of 11th Century Warrior

'...burned with anxiety ... warfare seemed to contradict the Lord's commands ...'

'a secular military life required him to avenge the spilling of his relatives' blood ...'

'This incompatibility dampened the courage of the wise man ... '

....Pope Urban granted remission ... his courage was born ...'

'But after the call to arms in the service of Christ, the twofold reason for fighting inflamed him beyond belief.'

- Alexios I Komnenos
