

Dental Morphology and Development Cheat Sheet by osully.cos65 via cheatography.com/150210/cs/33264/

Introduction:
Structure of Teeth	Location:
A tooth is divided up into three regions: crown, neck and root. These three regions combined illustrate different parts of anatomy.	These teeth are classified used FDI notation
Enamel	When identifying a tooth the tooth is broken up into four quadrants
Dentine	Quadrant one: top right - right maxillary permeant
Pulp Chamber	Quadrant two: top left - left maxillary permeant
Cementum	Quadrant three: bottom left - left mandible permeant
Periodontium: cementum, periodontal ligament, alveolar bone, and gingiva	Quadrant four: bottom right - right mandible permeant

Maxillary Teeth Morphology			Primary Teeth Morphology
Incisors:	Canines:	Premolars:	Maxilla ry:	Mandible:
Central	Canine	First	Firmsitsors:	Incisors:
incisor		premolar	reglatines:	Canines:
Lateral incisor		Second premolar	Premolars: Second molar	Premolars:
			Third molar

Mandible Teeth Morphology Incisors: Canines: Premolars: Molars: Central Canine First First premolar incisor molar Lateral Second Second incisor premolar molar Third molar

Primary Teeth Morphology
Maxillary:	Mandible:
Incisors:	Incisors:
Canines:	Canines:
Premolars:	Premolars:

By osully.cos65 cheatography.com/osully-

Not published yet. Last updated 20th July, 2022. Page 2 of 2. Sponsored by Readable.com

Measure your website readability!

https://readable.com