

Personal Care Defined

Personal care is defined by bathing, oral care, and grooming.

Institutionalization: People are creatures of habit, sometimes we may become too comfortable with receiving care that we lose our independence. It is important to encourage patients to provide self-care for themselves when they are able to.

Why is Hygiene Important?

1. Safety: You are killing pathogens which may cause disease. Skin is particularly important to clean due to skin breakdown.

2. Comfort & Well-being: People find dignity through not only being presented as properly groomed, but their self perception is positively influenced by being clean.
